IN THE STORM'S WAKE.

Great Damage Caused by a Cyclone in New Jersey.

THREE KILLED AT CHERRY HILL.

Great Destruction of Property in the Narrow Belt Visited by the Mighty Wind. One Life and Much Property Wiped Out on Long Island.

HACKENSACK, N. J., July 14.—A terrific storm swept over this section Saturday afternoon, doing great damage. At Cherry Hill, a small village a few miles from this place, it developed great fury, attended by the demolition of the village and a number of deaths. Cherry Hill received the full sweep of the wind's fury, and within a minute after the storm broke twenty-seven houses, nearly the entire number in the village, were wrecked. The tornado made a clean path through the center of the place, carrying everything before it. Houses were unroofed and thrown down; trees were uprooted, and the crops in the fields leveled to the ground.

The storm center was about 300 feet in width, and the strip over which it passed is a mass of ruins. Not a building in its path was spared; these that were not demolished were unroofed and moved from their foundations. Great masses of wreckage were carried through the air by the gale, adding to the destruction.

Among the buildings wrecked was the Dutch Reformed Church, a brick structure recently erected. The walls are still standing, but they will have to be pulled down. Three large beams, picked from the wreck of other buildings by the wind, were borne end on against the side of the church, and they went through the walls like cannon balls. The depot, standing between the tracks of the New York and New Jersey railroad, was demolished. The wind first tore the roof from the building and landed it one hundred feet away. Then the walls fell. The station agent was taken from the ruins later badly injured. The freight depot was also wrecked and the big platform carried several hundred feet from its place.

Twenty or more families were rendered homeless, and there were but few houses that escaped a touch of the terrific wind.

Conrad Friedman, a Cherry Hill hotel keeper, was in the act of shutting a window upstairs in his hotel, when he was drawn out by the current and hurled headlong to the ground below. His skull was fractured and death was instantaneous.

Anton Fischer, employed by August Mund as a hostler, was crushed to death when the barn in which he worked fell on top of him.

The infant child of William Ahrens was carried up in the air with the house and was dead when picked up.

Mrs. Ahrens' right ear was torn off. She and her injured son are at the Hackensack hospital.

Percy Cole, of Paterson, while on his way through Cherry Hill, was blown from his rig and seriously injured. Edgar Chinnock was so severely injured by flying timbers that his recovery is doubtful. Six persons are in the Hackensack hospital suffering from injuries received.

In addition to the wreck in Cherry Hill, almost every house along the river from that place to River Edge was damaged to some extent. Many merely had the chimneys blown down, while the roofs of others were badly started. Sections of many houses were in danger of toppling over and firemen were busy yesterday tearing down the doubtful portions. The buildings blown down in the village of Cherry Hill were valued at about $60,000.

Relief committees have been organized in several of the towns. Prompt measures were taken, and between the amount subscribed and that gathered in boxes at the ruins of the village there is now enough money to keep the unfortunates in food for a few days.

A Woman Killed on Long Island.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The first tornado in many years struck New York and Long Island Saturday afternoon and resulted fatally in one instance, besides wrecking a large amount of valuable property. The tornado wrecked thirty houses at Wood Haven and a very large school house there. There were twenty residents of Wood Haven hit by the various objects which were carried through the air. Trees and chimneys sailed through the air as though they were no heavier than feathers. At Wood Haven a woman was in an outhouse. The house was picked up and carried by the storm for more than a block. Finally the woman was landed on one side of the street and the house on the other. The woman had an almost miraculous escape, receiving only a slight cut on the forehead. Mrs. Louisa Petroquien, of Third avenue, near Rockaway, was killed. She stood in the doorway of her house when a flying beam struck her on the head, crushing in her skull and killing her instantly. The loss to property in a direct way has been estimated at about $100,000, but this is not taking into consideration the damage to crops in the neighborhood of Wood Haven.

Homes have been provided for those who lost their abiding places, and relief has come in from many directions.

Hailstones as Big as Hickory Nuts.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., July 15.—During a heavy thunder shower at South Amboy there was a terrific downpour of hailstones, many of them as large as hickory nuts. Nothing like it has ever been seen in this section of the state. Grain standing in the field was beaten to the ground, and vegetation suffered greatly from the terrible fusillade.

Vegetation Cut to Pieces.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., July 15.—A terrific hailstorm visited this vicinity. Horses were frightened and ran away and crops were ruined. The photographers' galleries are wrecks and conservatories are in a like condition. Vegetation is cut to pieces and many costly plants are stripped of leaves.

Grain Crop Ruined.

SOMERVILLE, N., July 15.—This section was visited by a deluge of rain and hail. The storm extended over an area of twenty miles. The grain crop throughout the Raritan valley is reported to be ruined.

Deaths at an Indian Celebration.

DECATUR, Neb., July 15.—Two Indian women and one child died Saturday night in Yeaton's pasture, where the Omaha Indian drunk is taking place. The women got gloriously drunk on a home made compound of hard cider, and participated in an Indian dance until completely overcome. This makes the seventh Indian who has died since the celebration began.

Fasted Sixty-six Days.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 15.—A. M. Kennedy, of Delevan, Morris county, has just died after a fast of sixty-six days. Kennedy was taken ill several months ago, his malady baffling the skill of physicians. Then he became partly paralyzed, and from that day until his death took no food, fasting sixty-six days in all. He was 67 years of age.

FLAMES ON THE WATER.

The Shipping in New York Harbor for a Time in Imminent Danger.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Naptha from the four large tanks of the Equitable Gas Light company, which are situated at the foot of East Fortieth street, took fire last night, and but for the good work of the firemen the loss to property would have been very large. As it was the inflammable fluid, which covered the surface of the water for a great distance on every hand, took fire and presented a spectacle which was witnessed by thousands of people gathered from that section of the city. It is supposed that some one dropped a lighted match or cigar in the oil covered water, for without a word of warning of any kind the river blazed up and the flames threatened to lick up everything in sight. The flames were subdued after considerable damage had been done to the small shipping on the river.

Two Probable Murders in Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 15.—Two Italian stabbing affrays in different sections of the Italian colony in this city occurred last night, both of which resulted in murder. A quarrel arose in the boarding house of Dominico Rossi, over the payment for a keg of beer. Frank Nardone stabbed Gernaro Copozzi twice over the heart with a stiletto. Copozzi seized an axe and struck Nardone, splitting open the top of his skull. Thomas Sullivan fatally stabbed Mittrico Vinceno at midnight at the former's house in the midst of a drunken quarrel.

A Ripper in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, July 15.—A white man, evidently familiar with the Whitechapel manner of murder, took the life of Ella, alias "Kid" King, a negress 28 years of age and a dissolute character. The woman, whose abdomen was ripped open by the knife of the assassin in such a manner that the entrails slipped out, died at the hospital soon after reaching there. Charles Schlick, a white man, who is said to have lived with the King woman in Kansas City, was arrested on suspicion of having committed the murder, which he strongly denies.

Met Death in a Runaway.

EASTON, Pa., July 15.—John H. Wendling, ex-member of the old borough council and a well known citizen, was killed in a runaway accident. He was driving a heavy oil tank wagon down New street, South Easton, when the tongue broke and the horses ran away. Little George Kohler, who was in the wagon, jumped and escaped with a broken arm, but Mr. Wendling was thrown to the swingletree and dragged several hundred feet, being repeatedly kicked by the horses. When the horses were caught Mr. Wendling was dead.

All Three Were Drowned.

SOUTH HAVEN, Mich., July 15.—Yesterday afternoon Mr. H. Tiltsworth took his new yacht Artist out for her trial trip, in company with the builders, Messrs. Coats and Stillson. When about four miles north of the harbor, about 3 o'clock, a squall struck and capsized her. The life saving crew went out immediately, and soon after the tug McClure left, but the yacht was so far away that the men were all drowned before the crew could reach them. All that was found was a cap which proved to have belonged to Mr. Stillson.

Arrested for Robbing Freight Cars.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., July 15.—Five more arrests were made by Detective McSweeny in connection with the freight robbery on the New York, Susquehanna and Western railroad, including Watson Labar, an employe of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, and his wife; also Mrs. Robert Labar, whose husband was arrested on Friday. Both women are now in the county jail. A quantity of plunder was recovered.

Speedy Long Distance Cycling.

CHICAGO, July 15.—John Lawson, the "Terrible Swede," yesterday afternoon demonstrated his ability to ride fifty miles in record breaking time. While his performance was very meritorious, the ride counts for naught as a record breaking feat, inasmuch as the course ridden was not within the prescribed regulations of the Century Road Club of America. The fifty miles was done in 2h 55 min.

House Fell Into a Gully.

PITTSBURG, July 15.—The house of Andrew Schneider, situated on Greenleaf street, on the edge of a bluff, collapsed at 7 o'clock in the morning and rolled into the gully twenty feet. Mrs. Anna Schneider, her two children and two workmen, all of whom were sleeping in the house, were buried in the ruins. All escaped with slight injuries. The damage to the house is $500.

Daring Raid by Cuban Rebels.

NEW YORK, July 15.—A special to the Herald from Havana tells of a most daring raid by the Cuban rebels upon Andalusia. The town was taken by surprise, Mayor Vigo was killed, the town hall was burned and the archives carried away. It is said that prisoners of war have been shot. The insurgents claim that physicians of Santiago de Cuba have left the city to join Maceo.

Dr. Seaman Convicted.

DETROIT, July 15.—The jury in the case of Dr. Seaman, who was charged with having performed a criminal operation which resulted in the death of Emily J. Hall, rendered their verdict yesterday. Their decision was "guilty on the third count." In other words, the doctor is convicted of having performed an abortion "by means unknown."

Jumped to His Death.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., July 15.—While at the top of a telephone pole forty feet high, William Raup, local manager of the Bell Telephone company, thought that the pole was breaking. To save himself he jumped, landed on an embankment and rolled in[illegible] a ditch. He was so badly injured he [illegible] a few minutes afterward.

A MONSTROUS PLOT.

The Sassoun Massacre Was Carefully Planned by Turkey.

BODIES SATURATED WITH OIL.

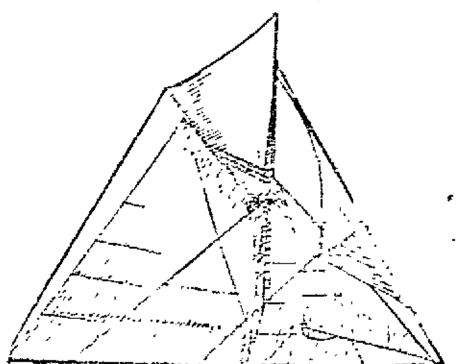
Large Quantities Were Taken Into the Country Before the Uprising of the Kurds for the Purpose of Aiding in the Horrible Work of Destruction.

LONDON, July 15.—Writing from Van, Armenia, under date of July 5, the special correspondent of the Associated Press says:

The Sassoun massacre, it would appear, was one of the most carefully planned outrages in history. The evidence of this is circumstantial only, but it is alleged to be none the less conclusive.

During the months of June, July and August preceding the Sassoun massacre the Kurdish chiefs in the country surrouding the Sassoun region, and particularly the districts in the southward and southwestward, were apparently unusually busy in gathering up the scattered warriors of their tribes for an invasion of the Sassoun region.

In July and August enormous quantities of petroleum were shipped from Erzeroum to Moush. This petroleum came originally from Russia to Erzeroum, and so great was the quantity brought over the mountain roads that it was a subject of remark to very many persons. Moush does not use a great quantity of petroleum herself, nor do her merchants sell much of it to the surrounding country. In the villages candles of sheep fat oil are used for lights. What Moush wanted with those countless cans of petroleum was a mystery.



DEFENDER.

But the mystery was a mystery no longer after the Sassoun massacre, for that petroleum was used to burn the houses of the Sassoun villages and to cremate the bodies of the wretched villagers who fell victims to the awful butchery. In burning the houses the petroleum was thrown upon the woodwork in generous quantities and set on fire, with the result that everything that could burn went up in smoke. In cremating the dead the bodies were in many cases placed between layers of wood and built up into a sort of funeral pyre. The entire mass was then saturated with petroleum and set on fire. It is charged that living men were cremated in the same way. But this was a merciful way of putting the unfortunate creatures to death in comparison with the tortures inflicted upon many others.

A few weeks prior to the beginning of the Sassoun massacre there was an unusual demand for horses for the army. This demand was not confined to the city of Moush, nor yet to the province of Bitlis. In the case of horses owned by Armenians no pretense was made of paying for them. The press gang simply took them wherever they happened to be found and said no more about it. In many instances horses were seized as they were carrying loads through the city streets [illegible] the loads were dumped off into the streets and the horses taken away. For the owners to protest to the government was so much breath wasted. The horses thus seized, it is claimed, were used by the Turkish troops in the Sassoun massacre.

The massing of troops near the Sassoun region, and particularly at Moush, was carried on for some time before the beginning of the massacre, in order that everything might be in readiness, according to the program said to have been carefully made out at Constantinople.

Several weeks after the Sassoun massacre, it is claimed, orders were sent from the palace at Constantinople for a massacre of the inhabitants of Modikan, a district lying to the south and southeast of Sassoun, but when it was seen that an investigation of the Sassoun affair was inevitable the order, it is said, was recalled, and Modikan was not molested, except in the ordinary course of the persecution general in all parts of Armenia.

At about the same time, it is asserted, preparations were being made to massacre the inhabitants of Sassoun the Turkish government tried to induce the Kurds to massacre the Armenian inhabitants of the Nourdouz region, which lies almost directly south of Lake Van, but the Kurds refused to have anything to do with the work. It is charitable to suppose that the refusal of the Kurds was due to feelings of humanity, but it is more than likely that they regarded such a course as killing the goose that lays the golden egg, for if their Armenian vassals were killed off they themselves would be reduced to the necessity of working for a living.

In 1893, it is added, an attempt was made by the Turkish government to exterminate the Sassoun people; but, on this occasion the work of extermination was entrusted to the Kurds, with the result that the latter got decidedly the worst of it. After a prolonged attack on the village [illegible]orig, in the center of the Sassoun [illegible], during which many Kurds were [illegible] the attempt was abandoned. But [illegible]nts of 1894 would seem to show that [illegible] merely postponed until more [illegible] for the complete an[illegible]ould be [illegible] there [illegible] themselves as a sacrifice to Turkish butchery, in the hope that the attention of England may be more strongly called to the desperate situation of these people.

An Indian God.

WICHITA, Kan., July 15.—In the Caddo Indian district it has been raining steadily for a week. The rain, coming as it does after the incantations of Squirrel, an aged and decrepit Indian, who claims that the Great Spirit has given him the power to make rain, has driven the Caddo Indians into a frenzy. They have gone so wild over the magic art which Squirrel claims to possess that they are worshipping him as a god.

PRIZE FIGHTING ILLEGAL.

Texas' Attorney General Declares the Big Fight Must Be Prevented.

AUSTIN, Tex., July 15.—Attorney General Crane today gave out his opinion in the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight case at Dallas in October. The opinion is in a reply to an inquiry from the Dallas county attorneys as to whether the law enacted in 1891 prohibiting prize fighting was valid and operative.

The attorney general holds that the law of 1891 was and still is operative. The attorney general contends "that according to the contention of those who believe that the statute against prize fighting is void on account of its declaration that the crime is felony and is punishable as a misdemeanor and is applied thereto, the statute would be perfect if the word misdemeanor could be substituted for the word felony." He says further:

"The validity of the act in question is not affected by the revision of the code. The civil code passed the legislature before the penal code did, and not afterwards. This law being valid, it is the duty of the sheriff of Dallas county to see that it is enforced. He is the authority, and we will look to him to see that the law is enforced."

Selling Tickets for the Big Fight.

DALLAS, Tex., July 15.—President Stuart, of the Florida Athletic club, has authorized Joe Vendig, New York agent of the club, to supplement the great glove contest between Corbett and Fitzsimmons on the following day with two events between lesser lights, and the one ticket admit to both. Mr. Vendig will sign at once Steve O'Donnell and Peter Maher, and George Dixon, the American champion bantamweight, and Billy Plimmer, the English champion bantamweight. It will cost the Florida Athletic club $12,500 to bring off these two matches. The sale of the tickets for the great fight continues with a rush. Sales have already reached nearly $30,000, and everybody on the ground believes that fully 32,000 tickets will be sold.

Died of Acute Alcoholism.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y., July 15.—Application was to have been made to the supreme court on Saturday next to have a permanent committee appointed for John H. Iselin, who was on Thursday last adjudged by a jury at Cold Spring as a habitual drunkard, and declared incompetent to manage his own affairs or those of the Gouveneur estate, of which he was trustee. The motion will not now be made as Iselin died at Eagles Rest, Garrison, on Saturday night from acute alcoholism. The illness which resulted directly in the club man's death, dates back almost to the time when the proceedings were commenced by his brother and sister to have him adjudged a drunkard.

Chilean Cabinet Crisis Ended.

LONDON, July 15.—Advices to The Times from Santiago de Chili are that the cabinet crisis has virtually ended through the union of all the branches of the Liberal party. The Balmacedists will not be represented in the ministry, but will support it.

A Child Ate Powdered Lye.

RAHWAY, N. J., July 15.—A 15-months-old boy of William S. Frazee, of Inman avenue, got hold of some powdered lye, putting a quantity of it into its mouth. The doctors hope to save the life of the little sufferer.

Sir William Harcourt's Defeat.

LONDON, July 15.—Sir William Harcourt's defeat in the Derby election is the sensation in political circles. It is admitted on all sides that the Liberals are beginning very badly. Of 119 members thus far elected 96 are Unionists, 10 Liberals and 4 Parnellites. The moral effect of Sir William Harcourt's defeat will be great, as even the most sanguine Conservative did not expect a Liberal majority of 1,900 to be converted into a Unionist majority of 1,100. While Sir William Harcourt fared so badly Hon. A. J. Balfour, the new first lord of the treasury, who is to succeed Sir William as leader of the house of commons, nearly doubled his majority in Manchester.

Cuban Murderers Captured.

HAVANA, July 15.—The civil guard has captured two of the band who murdered eight persons at a store in San Jose, near Guanajay. Two of the gang armed with machetes made a pretext of watering their horses, and killed a corporal of the civil guard who was pursuing.

Soda Water Sellers Not Arrested.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The resurrection of the Sunday law by Judge McAdam had the effect of only slightly checking the sale of soda and mineral water by druggists and confectioners of the city yesterday. Possibly one such place in every twenty made no attempt to sell. One in every four sold only to regular customers, while all the rest sold to every one who wanted to buy. DEFENDER VS. VIGILAN[illegible]

A Fair Test of Speed Between the Two Famous Yachts.

THE NEW YACHT AN EASY WINNER.

The Defender Clearly Outsails and Outpoints the Boat That Successfully Defended the America's Cup in 1893—Her Owners Highly Elated.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 15.—The Defender outsailed the victorious Vigilant in a fair and interesting trial contest yesterday afternoon off the Rhode Island coast, and Messrs. Iselin, Morgan and Vanderbilt, the members of the syndicate, who followed every movement of both boats, expressed themselves as well pleased with the result. The new yacht again behaved admirably, and both outsailed and outpointed her opponent. The crew of the Defender made quick time in bringing her about again, it only requiring eighteen seconds to change her course.

The Defender arrived here in tow of a tug at 7 o'clock this morning. Captain Haff was in charge, and after spending two hours making preparations for a sail waited for the Vigilant to put in her appearance. Just before 11 o'clock the latter was seen coming down the bay. Captain Haff at once gave orders to get under way and lay to, waiting for the Vigilant. As she approached the Defender's crew hoisted club topsail. The Vigilant did the same, and both boats headed seaward, the Defender in the lead. The latter's sails fitted perfectly. Her club topsail was much larger than the Vigilant's and gave her a decided advantage.

A large fleet of yachts, under steam and sail, including Mr. Vanderbilt's Valiant, with her owner and a small party on board, and Mr. Morgan's Shearwater, bearing Mr. Morgan and a number of friends, started to follow the race. Mr. C. O. Iselin was on board the Defender, and Mr. Willard, of New York, was aboard the Vigilant. Only the steam yachts followed the boats the whole way.

Soon after 11 o'clock the boats were sighted off Castle Hill, their sails taking a good breeze which came from the northwest, and which was sending them both along at a lively rate. The spinnaker booms were then run out to starboard on both yachts. The Vigilant broke her spinnaker, but the syndicate boat waited for her to come up.

At 11:15, when both yachts were half a mile north of Beavertail Light, the Defender broke her spinnaker and both started on an even line, heading south by east. During the next few minutes the Defender had considerable trouble with her spinnaker and it was taken in three times before it fell properly. On this account she lost ground. The Vigilant's spinnaker was much larger, but it did not draw as well as the Defender's after it was adjusted.

At noon the Vigilant hauled in closer to the other yacht and it was seen that the Defender was a trifle ahead. At 12:06 p. m., after having run eight miles in fifty-one minutes, the Vigilant took in her spinnaker and headed toward the Narragansett shore. The Defender immediately followed. When they came about, the Vigilant was two lengths ahead, with the wind on the beam. The Defender at once began to crawl ahead from leeward, soon opening a space of two lengths between her and the Gould boat.

In a few minutes more the distance was doubled. Both boats were then carrying balloon jibs. At 12:20 the Defender came about and set her jib and skysail, and hauled down the balloon jib. The baby jib topsail was also set. The Vigilant came about seven minutes later and set the same sails. Her jib topsail was nearly twice the size of the Defender's. Both boats pointed well, but the Defender showed marked supe[illegible] in this respect as well as in speed. [illegible] they came about on the port tack, the Defender far ahead and well up to the windward. The latter came about [illegible] pulled away in eighteen seconds. [illegible] continued on the same leg until af[illegible] o'clock, when a squall was seen coming from the southward.

Morgan [illegible] Vanderbilt what she could do, after [illegible]ing a long reach, she headed for [illegible] Judith which the Vigilant was [illegible] rounding in tow of the tender. The [illegible]ilant was soon overhauled, and, ap[illegible]ently anxious for another brush, the [illegible]ter again got under sail. FOILED.

Padlock Coombs, the Great Detective, Makes a Futile Attempt.

The sun was setting in the west, with the evident purpose of hatching out another day, when Padlock Coombs, the great detective, ran nervously up the front steps and put his key into the lock.

"Ha!" he muttered, as he rattled the key forward and back, but failed to secure an entrance. He then said some other things that it will be better to suppress. Newspapers do this every day and get no credit for it.

The great detective put one finger to his forehead and thought. Sometimes a detective has, to do this. There are detectives who can get along without thinking, but not unless the reporters will help them out. Having thought for some moments, Padlock Coombs took the finger away from his brow.

"I see," he said, nodding and frowning, "this key does not fit; consequently I must live somewhere else."

Then he turned to go away, but his wife, who had come to the window to listen to the remarks which the papers have agreed not to mention, cried out:

"You've got the key in the wrong lock."

It was but the work of an instant to make the change, and in another moment the detective stood inside the hall.

Supper was eaten in silence; also in the dining room. When Padlock Coombs put food into his mouth he would instantly clap his hand over it. Then when the attention of the family was directed elsewhere he would carefully swallow. Thus he averted suspicion, which subsequently fastened upon the hired girl.

"Did you get the tickets for tonight?" his wife asked.

The detective shook his head. Detectives often do this.

"I knew you would forget it," she said, "so I got them myself. They are in the pocket of my green gown, up stairs. While I am putting on my gloves run up and get them."

Padlock Coombs shut the chamber door and turned the slide of his dark lantern. Every corner of the room was carefully examined. He found that the hired girl had neglected to sweep under the bed. Then he softly crossed the floor and opened the closet door.

"In the pocket of the green gown," he muttered, turning up the electric light. Taking the dress down from its hook, he thrust his hand into its folds. The hand disappeared from view and wound its way subterraneously for a great distance. Suddenly the detective saw some fingers protruding mysteriously from a distant corner of the closet. He grasped them with a grip of steel.

They were his own.

The pocket had escaped their detection.

Padlock Coombs brought the dress from the closet and turned it (the dress) wrong side out. With a 2 foot rule he ascertained its dimensions. In circumference it measured 21 feet. While the detective followed crime his wife followed fashion. The difference is slight. Padlock Coombs thought of this and shuddered. Executing a quick gesture, he shoved both hands into the dress and tore out the haircloth and linings, and then, with a dexterous movement, he ripped up two entire back breadths.

"What are you doing?" called a voice from the door.

It was his wife's voice. She had brought it up stairs with her for that purpose. The detective threw the dress to the floor and stamped upon it.

"I can't find no pocket!" he yelled angrily.

His wife sailed grandly into the closet, plucked the tickets forth and held them up triumphantly, just as any woman would do.

"I told you the green dress," she coldly said. "There's no pocket in that one."

"But this is the green dress," the detective cried.

"No," his wife retorted, "that is my red one."

Padlock Coombs, the great detective, was color blind.—W. O. Fuller, Jr., in New York Recorder.

A Deep One For Mr. Junius.

"Do you know how to make salt last?" Mr. Junius asked, looking thoughtfully across the table.

"Well, there now, I do declare," Mrs. Junius answered, "if it isn't too bad for you to go hinting around in that way that I am extravagant and waste things that never have been wasted when I am sure nobody tries harder to scrimp and save than I do, and all the neighbors borrowing coffee and things mornings and some of them forgetting to send back, and you know yourself, Julius, that you left that yeast cake in your pocket last fall when I was suffering for it, and of course it was ruined, and who ever heard a spring overcoat smell so, but of course it kept the moths out, or at least it would if there had been any moths in the winter, but that's absurd, yet I can't see why I should be badgered around about economizing when mother says I am the savingest young housekeeper she ever saw, but for pity's sake, Julius Junius, do stop setting there looking so exasperating and refusing to speak and tell me if you know, which I don't believe you do, how I am going to make salt last."

As his wife whistled for brakes at the track crossing Mr. Junius softly answered:

"By transposing the letters."

And he had all his evening chores done up before she put in another punctuation mark, though she hasn't seen it yet.—New York Recorder

LEARNING TO RIDE.

An Attempt That May or May Not Prove the Last.

My first lesson on the wheel was very tame. I went to an academy, where a gentle young man told me many solid facts and trotted softly by my side about the arena while I slid about in the saddle and the bicycle wabbled to and fro. I didn't fall down because the young man wouldn't let me. He knew a great deal about bicycling and how to do it, and he poured forth a constant stream of information which almost lulled me to sleep. In fact, the monotonous tones of his voice and the continuous circular going induced a species of coma in which the flying figures of another young man and a young woman passing in swift circles took on such a resemblance to that hapless pair, Francesca da Rimini and her lover, that I asked my guide in startled amazement:

"Did Paola chew gum?"

In his turn my instructor was dazed and I slipped from the wheel, meekly paid my fee and walked out. I had learned to mount from the left side of the wheel, to turn the handle bar in the direction I tipped, but so firmly had that faithful youth held me up that I had never tipped, and that I must pedal faithfully in the hope of "getting there."

Then I hired a wheel and a boy to put me back when I fell off, but on no account was he to do more. The boy and wheel met me in a retired spot. He was a boy of good muscular development and he held the machine firmly when I climbed into the saddle.

"Wouldn't like me to steady it a bit?" he asked kindly.

"Thanks, no," I returned, and with one revolution of the pedals I was off.

That expression may be interpreted as the reader chooses. The boy, however, was equal to the situation and did not feel hurt by my refusal. In fact, I think I was more hurt than he at the way things turned out. Anyway, in a few minutes I said to him, "You may hold the wheel steady until I get started, please."

He did his part beautifully, and I felt the bliss of flying for a moment or two, then a tree at quite a distance started to meet me half way. It did. I abandoned all connection with the bicycle to embrace the opportunity. I didn't miss it, but met it full in the face—in my face. I answered the boy feebly that it "didn't hurt so much now," and he said cheerily that the wheel was all right. When I opened my eyes, the tree seemed quite a distance off. It was an elm. I never liked elms anyway. They are so regular in formation—but that was an irregular proceeding. The boy seemed inclined to manage affairs after this and suggested that he would ride the wheel a little bit and see if it worked right. I had hardly assented to this when he went like a streak fairly out of sight. That roused me. What did he mean by acting like that? I wanted to ride. I'd have him know. Before I had really worked myself into a rage he came back, riding easily, with his hands in his pockets. It struck me as an insolent attitude, but the boy was good nature itself.

"Let me show you a few points," he said. But my pride was aroused, and I refused.

I mounted again, and by good luck went wavering along to a turn in the road. I heard a clattering grocery wagon behind me at this point, and without premeditation sat down in the road to wait for it, holding the wheel down to prevent it from getting away. The grocery boy didn't understand my intentions and called:

"Hi, there, get a move on you!"

"I have as much on me as I can bear now," I muttered, and sullenly awaited my boy's appearance.

He meanwhile rebuked the grocer's lad in well chosen terms, while he lifted up the wheel. He called it a daisy when he brought it, saying, "She only weighs 22 pounds," but in my inmost heart I believe it to be a 60 pounder. When I had once more resumed the perpendicular, I said, with a well feigned air of careless ease:

"I think that will do for today. You can bring the wheel tomorrow at the same time."

The boy asked me if I would ride home. I scanned his freckled and ingenuous countenance to see if any malice lurked in the question before I replied that I preferred to walk.

"Then I'll ride," he answered, and turning again to look at me he said, with frank kindness:

"I'd use brown paper and vinegar on my forehead if I was you. That bump'll look awful tomorrow."

There were 29 bruises on my body that night, by actual count.—Chicago Times-Herald.

His Wish.

Lady Spencer once asked Dr. Warren, her medical attendant, whether the minds of physicians must not be frequently imbittered by the reflection that a different mode of treatment might have saved the lives of their patients. The doctor thought otherwise. "The balance between satisfaction and remorse must," he said, "be greatly in favor of satisfaction, and as an instance of this I trust I may have the pleasure of curing your ladyship 40 times before killing you."—Household Words.

Couldn't Talk.

The two deaf and dumb friends stopped for a few minutes' conversation.

"What did your wife say about your being out so late last night?" said one of them.

"Nothing."

"That's strange. What's the reason?"

"She's got a sore finger."—Minneapolis Journal.

Rebecca Wilkinson, of Brownsvalley, Ind., says: "I have been in a distressed condition for three years from nervousness, weakness of the stomach, dyspepsia and indigestion until my health was gone. I had been doctoring constantly with no relief. I bought one bottle of South American Nervine, which did me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely medicine; a few bottles of it have cured me completely. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world." Gentlemen:—I have used tobacco for over twenty-five years, chewing and smoking every day from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m., stopping only for meals.

On Monday, February 4th, I called at your office in Springfield, and bought a bottle of the Cure which I used as directed, and on the tenth day the desire for tobacco had left me and it has not returned. I did not lose a meal while taking the Cure. My appetite has improved and I consider Narcoti-Cure a grand thing.

A fellow bet us last January that there wouldn't be two houses on Richmond Hill in a year. We took him down one day and showed him fifteen on one street, and he was actually sorry he lost. He ought to have been glad that there were that many new houses in the city. There are quite a few of that kind of folks in town. They never laid a brick or a shingle to help make a greater Middletown. They simply hang around and "wear a wearied look." We take some pride in the knowledge that we have aided in

Two Murderers Lynched.

CAMDEN, Ark., July 15.—At Hampton, thirty miles east of here, two negroes were mobbed by five white men. Two weeks ago a white man by the name of Martin was killed by three negroes. Two of them were arrested and confined in jail. A mob marched to the jail at midnight and demanded of the sheriff the surrender of the murderers. It was useless to resist such a force, so the keys were delivered to the mob. The culprits were carried to the neighboring forest and hanged to trees. The lynchers made no effort to conceal their identity.

Young Outlaws Sentenced.

KINGWOOD, W. Va., July 15.—The four outlaws, "Bud" and Bill Smiley, "Hank" Harvey and "Archy" Patterson, who were convicted last week for shooting and seriously wounding Sheriff Leroy Shaw, of this county, were sentenced by Judge Hoke to five years' imprisonment in the penitentiary. These are the four Fayette county desperadoes who were arrested at the time the shooting occurred for stealing four fine horses last April at Brownsville. Their combined ages aggregate only 82 years, "Bud" Smiley, the youngest, being 13 years old.

A Candidate for Lynching.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The pursuit of the unknown negro who brutally assaulted Mrs. Lucy Hall, a respectable colored woman, on Saturday morning at her home, beyond Anacosta, was kept up all day and night by a party of infuriated farmers, white and black, every man of whom was armed with revolvers, shotguns and razors. The man hunt is being made on horseback. Should the fugitive negro be overtaken there is not one chance in a hundred that his life would be spared.

Mrs. Cleveland and the Baby.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., July 15.—President Cleveland spent Sunday in his customary quiet way. Mrs. Cleveland is getting along well, and the baby is thriving. The weather has been very favorable since the birth of the little one, and the doctor says she has suffered no drawback. The president took a short carriage drive late yesterday afternoon. Mr. E. C. Benedict's steam yacht Oneida dropped anchor in the harbor last evening. Mr Benedict and family and several guests are on board.

Peffer Has the Presidential Bee.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 15.—Senator Peffer is out for a nomination. In a letter just published he says: "A new party must be formed, because there is new work to be done—work that the other parties are not fitted for. But it will be built on a foundation deeper and broader than 'free silver' or 'bimetallism,' for these terms express nothing that reaches the core of the trouble which confronts us. It will be something like this: 'Let the people rule.'"

Killed by Explosion at Sea.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The Normandie, which arrived yesterday, reported that on the day she arrived from Havre an explosion occurred in the coal bunkers, resulting in the death of Francois Lefleur, a fireman, who entered the bunkers with a naked light. Gas had accumulated in the bunkers. The body was buried at sea.

AN INTERESTING EXPOSITION.

The Show at Bordeaux, France, Is Attracting Many Visitors.

A potent magnet for the European tourist [illegible] the thirteenth exposition of the Societe Philomathique, or the Bordeaux exposition, as it is better known. It is planned somewhat on the lines of the Paris exposition, and although much smaller is a great show, well worth the time of the pleasure seeker. The departments of fine arts, electricity, general science, industry and agriculture contain exhibits from almost all the continental countries, and every wine producing country in the world is showing what it can do in the department of wines, spirits and malted liquors. One of the most important exhibits is being made by a number of the great California winegrowers.

M. ALFRED DANEY.

The Societe Philomathique has been in existence about 112 years and has been a powerful factor in French progress. Its object from its inception has been to "advance general science, liberal arts, industry and public instruction," and notwithstanding the numerous political upheavals through which France has passed in a century the work has progressed with remarkable steadiness. In 1810 a free clinic and dispensary were organized for the benefit of the poorer classes and a great work has since been done among the needy. For years, too, the society has conducted a great educational institution that was the prototype of Girard college, which Stephen Girard, a native of Bordeaux, founded in Philadelphia.

The first exposition of the society was held in Bordeaux in 1827, and since that date the city has been the scene of 12 more. Each one was larger and better attended than its predecessor, and the seventh in 1847 had 27 departments and 300 exhibitors. The eighth exposition, in 1850, was notable because it marked the admission of foreign exhibitors. The exposition preceding the present one was held in 1882 and was an enormous success. There were 6,000 exhibitors and fully 1,000,000 visitors. The exhibition of 1895 is being held on a large parklike tract of land in the center of Bordeaux, and there are 15 large buildings and a Chicagoesque Midway plaisance. The director general of the exposition is M. Alfred Daney.

ghkeepsie News-Press calls Republican tax rate "a issionary in successful pur- Democratic votes."

The United States sold in foreign markets during the fiscal year 1894 $869,204,937 worth of American products. Of that enormous amount the farmers and fruit growers of the United States furnished $628,363.038 worth of products. But for all this our local McKinleyite contemporaries are moved to tears because under the new tariff we have bought $20,000 worth of eggs from Canada.

Dun's Review, noting the fact that the clearing house exchanges for the two weeks of July have been thirty-five per cent larger than last year, and six per cent larger than 1992, says that May frost and fright kept back business and threw it over into summer, but that the volume of business, however it may be measured, is remarkably large for the month even in good years.

The World publishes dispatches from twenty-nine cities in the State in regard to the enforcement of the Sunday excise law, which show that five of them tried to be as dry as New York; in seven of them the front doors of the saloons were wide open, and in seventeen a side door trade flourished. It isn't necessary to add that Middletown is in the side door list.

The wool market is phenomenally active and prices are steadily advancing under very heavy buying. The sales for the two weeks in July were 26,497,614 pounds, as against 11,986,550 pounds in the same weeks in 1892. The condition of the market has had its effect on holders and producers and Western farmers are asking even higher prices than heretofore, and are realizing that McKinley's predictions of "ruin" as a result of free wool were worse than empty words.

Defender and Vigilant tried conclusions, yesterday, off Bristol harbor, and a fair test of the new yacht in running before the wind, reaching and in close-hauled work was secured. She outsailed the Vigilant in every aespect, especially in sailing close to the wind, and it is calculated that in a run of fifteen miles and return, with conditions as they were yesterday, Defender would outsail Vigilant by ten or fifteen minutes. Since yesterday's trial yachtsmen feel very certain that the cup is safe.

The Philadelphia Times, reviewing the factional fight in the Republican party in Pennsylvania, says: "It's full grown cats to blind kittens that Hastings will be president of the convention, and that his appointments for the Supreme Judges will be nominated, but the odds end and fairly even up on the question of making Quay chairman of the state committeee. It's a $10,000 government bond to six shares of Automatic Telephone stock that if Martin, under the flag of Hastings, defeats Quay at Harrisburg, the worst whipped gang of modern times will be the Martin-Porter gang in this city in February ext."

Tribune says: "Everybody stands that the future of busi- depends largely upon the " Quite true; nevertheless, s of the Tribune have hereto- en taught that the "future of ss" was a matter of tariff. were very poor last year, con- ntly business was poor. Did ribune find in this cause and ef- Oh, no! The Democratic tariff, gued, was responsible for the trouble. But why this change ase? Easily answered. This the crop promise is most flat- ng, and if the cup of hope is not ned from the lips, the country is or a boom—a boom under Demo- atic tariff! What a frightful hap- ning that would be for the Tribune face! It would never do for it to dmit that such a thing was possi- e. and so it is getting ready to ribe everything that may happen good crops; to insist that crops d made times better despite the nocratic tariff; and to claim that would have been ever so much yet had there been no Demoone of whom they have no knowledge. For such there is no significance in this news item, but how differently must it strike everyone at all conversant with this woman's history. They recall her as the only child of one of the most illustrious of American statesmen,—Salmon P. Chase, successively Senator from Ohio, Secretary of the Treasury and Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, in possession of which office he died a comparatively poor man.

In the life time of her greatly distinguished father, whether as Kate Chase or as Kate Sprague, no woman held such high place in social life at the national capital, or filled such large space in accounts of society life there as did she. Highly educated, accomplished and beautiful, she was indeed to be envied. Alas! how her fortunes have changed. Then a queen in the social and political centre of her country, to-day a supplicant among money lenders.

Had Salmon P. Chase been of the mercenary mould of some of his contemporaries in statecraft he might easily have died several times a millionaire, and, as in their instance, suffered no reproach, for no man at any time in public office enjoyed such large opportunity as did he for self-enrichment. He was neither plunderer nor speculator. He was the arbiter of billions, but he profited not. What a pity, what a shame then it is that after such service as he gave,—for in those dark and bloody days the whole North hung upon his breath, such was the confidence in his genius and his integrity—what a pity, what a shame it is, we repeat, that his only child is seeking aid that she and her offspring be not turned upon the streets.

A Middletowner Injured on the N. Y. and N. E. Railroad.

Mrs. Isaiah Jones, of 11 Charles street this city, received a telegram yesterday morning from Highland, announcing an accident to her husband, who is a flagman on the New York and New England Railroad. He had fallen from a car and sustained an injury to the spine, paralysing his lower limbs. Mrs. Jones went to Highland last evening, and word was received from her this morning that Mr. Jones was resting comfortably and that she would return with him to-morrow.

Used the Water Cure on Her Maimed Family.

Five children of Louis Arnold, who lives on the Preakness mountains, near Paterson, were seriously injured on July 4 by the premature explosion of powder, with which they were preparing to blow up a rock. The oldest boy had both eyes blown out; another boy lost one eye, and all were badly cut and bruised. The mother refused to have a doctor called, and applied hot and cold water with cloths to the wounds, and although she has not been able to restore sight to the sightless eyes, has brought the children around all right

ASSAULTED AND ROBBED BY TRAMPS

Noah Gregory's Son's Adventure at the Summit—Unable to Positively Identify His Assailants.

Wilbur Gregory, son of Mr. Noah Gregory, of Eight-and-a-Half Station, was attacked by tramps at the Middletown Summit, about 8 o'clock, Saturday evening, and robbed of a nickel plated watch. Young Gregory was on his way to Middletown and stopped for a moment's rest on the platform of one of the ice houses. He noticed a crowd of men at the other end of the platform and in a few moments he was attacked from behind by a man who held his head down on the platform with his hand across his mouth to prevent an outcry. Several other men tackled him and held him, while a fourth went through his pockets.

The men then ran away and were soon lost to view behind the ice house.

Gregory came to this city and in company with Officer Wilson returned to the Summit. He identified a tramp as the man who had choked him and the fellow, with two of his pals, was locked up. Yesterday, the pals were run out of town and, this morning, Gregory, when sworn, could not positively identify the man as one of his assailants, but was sure he had seen him sitting with the crowd on the platform.

The man gave his name as Frank Harrington, of Austin, Tex, and said that he had not arrived at the Summit until after 10 o'clock, Saturday night, a fact which he claimed he could prove by his comrades had they not been run out of town, yesterday.

Acting Recorder Powelson could not hold the man on the evidence presented and he was discharged.

Tramps have been very numerous about the Summit lately and it is said that as many as 100 have congregated there during a day. Yesterday, however, they were very scarce.

SUNDAY SERVICES AT MIDWAY.

Increased Interest Manifested—A Large Crowd in Attendance.

Rev. F. A. Heath preached at Midway Park again yesterday afternoon. The crowd was larger than on either of the previous Sundays and if possible was even more deeply interested in the service. Certainly it could not have been a more orderly audience if the service had been held in a church.

It was observed that there were many people from the country roundabout the park who either walked or drove there in wagons to hear the services, and one of them probably voiced the sentiment of all when he said to Mr. Heath that he was grateful for the opportunity to attend religious services so near home.

The 24th Separate Co.'s band assisted very materially in the musical part of the service.

Rev. Mr. Evans, rector of Grace Church, will preach at the park next Sunday afternoon.

A CHILD KILLED

Its Mother Fell Down Stairs With It in Her Arms.

Sunday morning Mrs. Wm. Tucker, of New York, who was visiting her sister, Mrs. Andrew Calumbach, at Tuxedo, started down stairs with her fourteen months old babe in her arms. Her toe caught in the carpet and she fell headlong down the stairs.

The child's head struck the floor at the bottom of the stairs, making a dent in its skull, and and the pressure upon the brain soon caused death.

Coroner Decker was called, this morning, and after learning the facts granted a certificate of death.

Lower Rates for Electric Lights in Port Jervis.

The village of Port Jervis has made a new contract for electric lights by which it has secured a greatly reduced rate. The electric light company offered to furnish 104 arc lights of 1200 candle power for $9,000, a rate of $86 53 per year, and additional lamps at $90 per lamp. This is considerably lower than Middletown pays for its lights. Why is it?

Mr. Ayres was born in the town of Wallkill, and in 1856 removed to the above place. He is survived by his widow, Ellen Sayre Ayres, and two sons; also by the brothers (above mentioned and by two sisters, Mrs. M. Ann Kirby, of Slate Hill, and Mrs. Euas M. Smith, of Scotchtown. The funeral will be held Tuesday.

She was married December 20th, 1834. Her husband died in 1878 at Mount Hope.

She is survived by one daughter, Mary, widow of Charles E. Corwin, of Pleasantville, Pa., who during her illness for the past year has resided with her. A son, Theodore, died in 1883, and two other children died thirty-five years ago. She is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Crawford, of Montgomery.

The funeral will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday, at her late residence, Rev. Luther Littel officiating. The interment will be in Plains Cemetery.

James V. Clark.

Mr. James V. Clark, a farmer on the Lower Road near Pellit Island Bridge, died Sunday at 5:30 p. m. He had been afflicted with cancer of the stomach for about two years, and during the last three days declined rapidly. His age was 78 years, 3 months, 4 days.

Mr. Clark was born at Unionville, the son of Abraham Clark and Catherine Robertson. Forty-five years ago the family returned from Unionville to the farm, where James V. died, and this has been the homestead farm. After the death of the parents, James V., another brother, Robert R., and two sisters, Sarah Ann and Jane continued at the homestead. All three are dead and lately the farm has been worked by Wm. J. Clark, son of William H.

The only survivor of the family is David Robertson Clark, who lives on the next farm.

The brothers and sisters were: William H., Robert R., David R., Jane, who married Bradrick R. Miller, Sarah M, and three who died in childhood.

The funeral will occur at 10:30 Wednesday, at the house, Rev. David McLeod, of the Denton Presbyterian Church, conducting the service. Mr. Clark had been a member of that church for nearly half a century.

THROUGH A ROTTEN BRIDGE.

Horses Injured by Breaking Through the Bridge that D. R. Miller is to Fix "After Haying."

A few days ago the ARGUS called the attention of the Street Superintendent to the dangerous condition of the bridge on the extension of Highland avenue that David R. Miller is going to fix "after haying." Yesterday afternoon, a gentlemen of this city, riding out with his wife, drove over the bridge and one of the hind legs of his horse went through the ricketty structure. The horse's leg was strained and badly cut, but fortunately its leg was not broken The city authorities were notified and the bridge has been "repaired" by nailing two boards over the hole through which the horse broke. There is, however, another weak spot left unprotected for another horse to go through.

Since the above was in type we learn that a horse belonging to Liveryman Frank R, Wilson went through the bridge, Saturday night, and as a result its leg is cut and scraped and badly strained.

INCIDENTS AND HAPPENINGS IN GOSHEN.

Ball Players and Bowlers Cover Themselves with Glory—Anxious About the Date—No Bread to Give Away—A Possible Candidate for the Assembly—Personal and Local Notes.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

The Goshen Social and Athletic Association's aggregation of "rooters" base ball players and bowlers arrived home yesterday afternoon on train 6, all wearing smiles on their happy countenances as a result of their five victories in Sullivan county. The two bowling games at White Lake Saturday morning, proved to be easier than the games at Liberty on the night previous, as the Goshen bowlers had no trouble in defeating their opponents. The ball game at Monticello was a "cinch" for the Goshen ball tossers, Tierney being as effective as on the day previous at Liberty, and holding the Monticello club down to four runs, while the Goshen club seemed to score whenever they so desired and at the end of the ninth inning they had piled up 25 runs. The first game bowled at Monticello, Saturday night, proved the fact that the representatives from the Orange county seat would have to bowl a strong game to defeat their old antagonists who defeated them at Midway Park last winter by one and five pins. They seemed equal to the emergency, however, and although they were defeated the first game by sixty-five pins, they managed to win the two remaining games. Goodale broke the alley record and also broke County Treasurer Decker's heart when he bowled 278, as Mr. Decker had held the previous record of 253. The following are the total scores bowled in the seven games:

SERMONS BY TELEPHONE ARE NOW AN ACCOMPLISHED FACT.

Interesting Experiments Recently Made In Philadelphia—Pastor Conwell Will Be Heard by Thousands Who Do Not See Him—An English Precedent.

And now the telephone is to be utilized as an accessory to the pulpit.

A series of highly interesting experiments were made a few days ago in Philadelphia, which, when carried to their natural conclusions, will make it possible, and even easy, for any popular pulpit orator to enlarge the numerical limit of his auditors almost indefinitely. The speaker, whose audience is now limited to the seating capacity of his church, may simultaneously address his words of exhortation to two, three or even a dozen such congregations, gathered in separate auditoriums, and that, too, without any extra exertion or inconvenience on his part, provided he possesses the first requisite of the successful orator—good speaking power and distinct enunciation.

The experiments were made in Philadelphia's famous Baptist edifice known as the Temple. It is one of the largest church structures in America, greater than any of the tabernacles which Dr. Talmage has made famous, larger in its seating capacity than most of the theaters and opera houses of the world. And yet it is no longer large enough.

The individual members of this great Temple flock were brought face to face with the ominous fact that they were rapidly outgrowing their sheepfold one Friday night about a month ago when the Rev. Russell H. Conwell, their pastor, in his characteristically blunt way, said to them: "When 112 more persons have associated themselves as members of this church every seat in the upper temple will be occupied by a Christian. If every one of these Christians attends service and occupies his or her seat, then there will be no further scope here for evangelical work. What shall we do? Think it out. Think it out!"

What Pastor Conwell alluded to as the upper temple is the main auditorium, in which the preaching services are held. Every Sunday night and morning for years it has been crowded. But there is a lower temple, too—a vast, airy room beneath the other—and for many months overflow meetings have been regularly held there. There is also a commodious forum in the Temple college building immediately adjoining the Temple.

But the trouble is that Mr. Conwell is a popular speaker, and those who throng the Temple doors go there expecting to hear him.

When Pastor Conwell said, "Think it out, think it out," therefore, everybody knew just what he meant. He wanted some problem thought out the solution of which would make it possible for the congregations in the upper temple, the lower temple and the college forum to practically attend the same service and all at once to be within the sound of his voice.

There is a young man in the church who has quite a reputation as a joker. He said sententiously, "Why not run a speaking tube from the upper to the lower temple?"

Those who heard this suggestion thought it was only a joke, and some of the young women snickered. "But," as one of the more serious minded members said, "that remark set us to thinking, and now we have thought it out."

A competent electrician was called in consultation, and he undertook to superintend the task of uniting the three auditoriums so as to achieve the desired result. He was confident of success, and he had good enough precedent in England and Europe if not in America. He told the Temple people how a similar problem had been solved not long ago in Birmingham, England, and The Temple Magazine published this interesting account of it as a stimulus to its own readers:

"Christ church, Birmingham, England, is a large edifice, and is blessed with a rector who is not only a beautiful and exemplary Christian character, but a powerful and telling speaker. Thousands come regularly every Sunday to listen to him. He was struck with the unhappy lot of the multitude of poor suffering creatures who were compelled to lie day after day in the hospitals, and he made up his mind to brighten their dark path.

"After consulting with several eminent electricians, he gave orders, at his own expense, for a loud speaking telephone connection to be made between Christ church and the principal hospital in the city. After several experiments it worked successfully, and further contracts were placed with the electricians to connect other hospitals with the church. Then the jail was put in the circuit, and eventually seven large cities at a distance ranging between 100 and 250 miles heard the whole service at Christ church simultaneously.

"That is the greatest regular telephone circuit in connection with the Christian church, that we know of. The ordinary listener in Canon's own church never thinks for a moment that any telephones are in the building. All that can be seen are a few metal disks, if you know where to look for them. The speaker stands as other speakers, makes no more effort than they do, and puts himself to no inconvenience whatever."

Mr. Conwell and the Rev. Dr. George A. Peltz, the associate pastor, stationed themselves in the lower temple and delivered brief addresses in their ordinary ... tone. They were distinctly ... listened to with interest by ... in the upper temple and ... HER FACE IS HER FORTUNE.

'Twas Not Miss Marston's Wealth That Won Baron Rudolph Shutzbar-Michling.

MISS MARSTON.

Another American beauty is to wed a titled foreigner, and this time the foreigner has great wealth and the American girl's face is her only fortune. The bride to be is Miss Rose Marston of Chicago, and her future lord and master is not a lord, but a baron—Baron Rudolph Shutzbar Michling, a German nobleman of great wealth and very aristocratic lineage. He has several large landed estates in Germany, it is said, the largest being situated at Hohenhaus, near Berlin. The baron has long been connected with the German army, and at one time was a captain in the emperor's regiment of uhlans. He is a handsome, soldierly looking man of about 35 years, has been an extensive traveler and is well posted in science and literature. During his wanderings he has shot grizzly bears in the Rockies, crocodiles in Florida, tigers in India and the king of beasts in the dark continent.

One of the baron's fads is planting American trees and redwoods from the Yosemite valley, and American walnut, maple, cherry and other trees are now growing on his estate near Berlin. He is an expert in amateur photography, and has written a book of travels which has been published abroad and is now being translated into English. He is also writing a book describing his travels in the United States and Mexico.

Miss Marston is a daughter of Colonel Harry C. Marston, who has long been identified with the diplomatic service of the United States. Miss Marston is about 22 years of age. She is a pronounced blond with abundant golden hair, her eyes are blue, her features are classic, and her complexion displays the rosy tint of health. She has a tall, slender, graceful figure, and is said to be one of the handsomest women in Chicago. She was educated at the convent of the Sacred Heart in Paris and speaks four languages fluently. The courtship of the young couple began at a ball in Madrid and ended in Chicago.

HE SCORES THE NEW WOMAN.

And the New Woman Scores Bishop Doane In Return.

"One gets sick and tired of the way in which the talk of woman's vocation fills the air, not merely in the wild vagaries of its blatant assumptions, but in the parade and push of its claims for recognition of what are called 'its rights,'" remarked William Croswell Doane, Episcopal bishop of Albany, in a recent address before the young women at St. Agnes' school, Albany. As was to be expected, these ungallant sentiments have aroused the ire of the new women of America. The passage in the bishop's speech that has drawn out the most feminine criticism is the following:

"When constitutions shall have been altered to disturb the equipoise of the relation between man and woman; when motherhood shall be replaced by mannishness; when neglected homes shall furnish candidates for mismanaged offices; when money shall buy the votes of women as it does now themselves; when the fires of political discord shall be lighted on the hearthstone of domestic peace; when the assertion of demanded right shall have destroyed the instinctive chivalry of conceded courtesies; when 'woman,' as has been well said, 'once the superior, has become the equal of man,' then the reaped whirlwind of some violent political reaction will be gathered in tears by those who are sowing the wind, in the mad joy of the petroleuse of the French revolutions."

BISHOP DOANE.

Right Rev. William Croswell Doane, S. T. D., LL. D., is one of the best known clergymen in the Episcopal church. He was born in Boston in 1832, was graduated from Burlington college in 1850, and in 1856 was ordained a priest and became rector of St. Barnabas' church, Burlington, which he founded.

In 1867 he was elected rector of St. Peter's church, Albany, and two years later when the diocese of Albany was formed he was elected bishop at the early age of 37. During his long regime, the twenty-fifth anniversary of which was celebrated in January, 1894, the diocese has greatly prospered. The bishop is an excellent business man as well as an erudite clergyman, and he not only founded and raised the money for St. Agnes' School For Girls, but was instrumental in establishing nine or ten other benevolent institutions. His greatest work of this character, however, was the building of the Cathedral of All Saints. The bishop is very English in appearance and is fond of dogs and children.

DON'T STOP TOBACCO

It is Injurious To Stop Suddenly

And don't be imposed upon by buying a remedy that requires you to do so, as it is nothing more than a substitute. In the sudden stoppage of the use of tobacco you must have some stimulant, and in most all cases, the effect of the stimulant, be it opium, morphine, or other opiates, leaves a far worse habit contracted. Ask your druggist about "BACO-CURO." It is purely vegetable. You do not have to stop using tobacco with "BACO-CURO." It will notify you when to stop and your desire for tobacco will cease. Your system will be as free from nicotine as the day before you took your first chew or smoke. An ironclad written guarantee to absolutely cure the tobacco habit in all its forms, or money refunded.

Dear Sirs—I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past two years have smoked fifteen to twenty cigars regularly every day. My whole nervous system became affected, until my physician told me I must give up the use of tobacco for the time being at least. I tried the so-called "Keeley Cure," "No-To-Bac," and various other remedies, but without success until I accidentally learned of your "Baco-Curo." Three weeks ago to-day I commenced using your preparation, and to-day I consider myself completely cured. I am in perfect health, and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every inveterate smoker fully appreciates, has completely left me. I consider your "Baco-Curo" simply wonderful, and can fully recommend it.

Yours very truly, C. W. HORNICK.

Dear Sirs—I have been a tobacco fiend for thirty-three years and during the past two years have used chewing tobacco very extensively. My nervous system became affected considerable. I have often tried to give up the use of tobacco, but always failed until I bought three boxes of your "Baco-Curo." I used tobacco at the same time while taking "Baco-Curo," and after the third box I lost the appetite for tobacco—smoking or chewing. I am enjoying better health and consider your "Baco-Curo" the safest, most harmless and reliable remedy for to break the tobacco habit.

Yours truly, JOHN RODDEN,
Postmaster, Rodden, Ill.

Dear Sirs—I have used chewing tobacco very extensively the past thirty years. I tried so-called "No-To-Bac" and other remedies, but without success, until I bought three boxes of your "Baco-Curo." I continued chewing tobacco while taking the preparation and find that the horrible craving for tobacco has left me, and I consider myself cured. I can fully recommend "Baco-Curo" to any person wishing to break themselves of the tobacco habit.

Yours very truly, D. S. WHITE.

Gentlemen—Last summer I furnished Mr James Reid, of the town of Burnside, Trempealeau Co., with three boxes of your "Baco-Curo." He had chewed tobacco for over forty years and the last year used over sixty-five pounds. He commenced using "Baco-Curo" and one box did not have the effect, when he had used about one-half of the second box, he began to lose his taste for tobacco, and when he had used one-half of the third box he had lost all his appetite for it, and is now entirely cured.

Yours truly, J. C. TAYLOR, Druggist.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

This is to certify that I, William S. Sawyer of Atlantic, County of Cass, State of Iowa, having been an inveterate smoker of tobacco bought three boxes of "Baco-Curo" Dec. 21, 1894. Began taking same according to directions and can say that I am completely cured of the tobacco habit. "Baco-Curo" is simply wonderful and I recommend it to all who are slaves to the tobacco habit and wish to be cured. I am in perfect health and have not felt so well in years. That terrible craving, which every tobacco user has more or less, has completely disappeared and I feel like a new man. Hoping that this may do some one good and lead them to try this wonderful remedy, "Baco-Curo," I remain, Yours truly,

WM. S. SAWYER, Atlantic, Iowa.

Gentlemen—For forty years I used tobacco in all its forms. For twenty-five years of that time I was a great sufferer from general debility and heart disease. For fifteen years I tried to quit, but couldn't. I took various remedies, among others "No-To-Bac," "The Indian Tobacco Antidote," "Double Chloride of Gold," etc., etc., but none of them did me the least bit of good. Finally, however, I purchased a box of your "Baco-Curo" and it has entirely cured me of the habit in all its forms, and I have increased thirty pounds in weight and am relieved from all the numerous aches and pains of body and mind. I could write a quire of paper upon my changed feelings and condition.

Yours respectfully, P. H. MARBURY,
Pastor C. P. Church, Clayton, Ark.

WHAT MR. KRAEMER SAYS OF "BACO-CURO."

ATLANTIC, Iowa, Feb. 4, 1895.

This is to certify that I, F. D. Kraemer, of Atlantic, Iowa, was an inveterate smoker of cigarettes for more than two years.

About eight weeks ago I bought three boxes of "Baco-Curo." I began taking it according to directions, and after taking one and one-half boxes, all the desire for cigarettes left me, and I have had no desire since.

I can heartily recommend "Baco-Curo" to all who are slaves to the cigarette habit or tobacco habit in any form, and are in search of a cure. I had become so under the influence of cigarettes, I could not remember anything; could not study, unless under the influence of the drug, which is death in the end, if kept up.

Cigarettes are sapping the lives out of more boys and young men to-day, than anything that is known to the world. Boys, before it is too late get some of this remedy that killed the craving for cigarettes in me and save your young life. Restore yourself to manhood. You will feel as though you had escaped an awful doom, and you have, when cured by "Baco-Curo," for you feel like a new being. I never felt better in all my life than at this present writing. I did not know what was the matter with me, until informed by the agent. He told me what was the reason I could not do anything unless under the influence of the death-dealing poison found in cigarettes. I did not believe him at first, until he explained the action on the system. Then I bought the goods and thank God and all concerned, I am a sound person to-day. Hoping they may reach the unfortunate cigarette smoker, I remain, Yours respectfully,

F. D. KRAEMER.

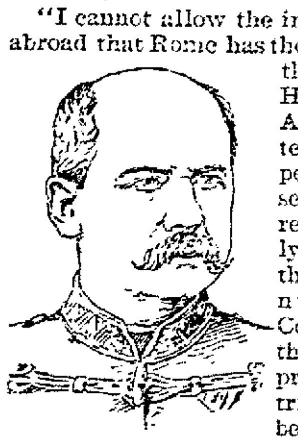
COUNT KALNOKY'S CAREER.

The Austrian Statesman Who Recently Resigned the Office of Premier.



COUNT KALNOKY.

"I cannot allow the impression to go abroad that Rome has the power to overthrow either Hungarian or Austrian ministers," the Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria remarked recently, but despite this royal pronunciamento to Count Kalnoky, the veteran premier of Austria, has resigned because he criticised the conduct of Mgr. Agliardi, the papal nuncio. The nuncio, according to Kalnoky, had interfered in the domestic affairs of Hungary and had overstepped the limits prescribed for foreign diplomatic representatives. In his view the case appeared to demand a foreign office note to the Vatican. This opinion was expressed by Count Kalnoky in a private letter which was made public and caused the crisis that brought about the premier's resignation.

Count Gustav Siegmund Kalnoky was born at Lettowitz, Moravia, Dec. 29, 1832, and, like most young nobles, entered the army at an early age. When he was 22, however, he resigned to accept a position in the diplomatic corps, and he has since climbed to the very top in Austrian diplomacy. His first important work was done in 1871, when he was placed in temporary charge of the legation at Rome. The Italians had just entered the imperial city, and the time was a critical one, but Kalnoky's conduct won warm commendation from his superiors. Three years later he was sent as embassador to the Danish court and acquitted himself so well that in 1880 he was promoted to the important post of embassador to Russia.

It is said that while in Denmark and Russia his clear, concise and interesting dispatches attracted the attention of the emperor, and in November, 1881, he asked Kalnoky to succeed Baron Haymerle as Austro-Hungarian minister for foreign affairs.

Kalnoky is without doubt Austria's greatest living statesman. He has a wide knowledge of international law, is a thorough linguist, possesses rare tact, courage and foresight and knows the diplomatic game from beginning to end. His connections were neither rich nor influential, and he has mounted to the high place he occupies in Austrian affairs by sheer ability, pluck and force of character. He was premier longer than any other Austrian statesman, Prince Metternich excepted, and will doubtless remain in retirement but a short time.

Substantially Correct.

"Children," said the superintendent of the Sunday school, "can any of you tell me what might be called the great religious movement of the age?"

There was no response.

"Think, children," he persisted. "Surely some one of you can tell me. What is the most noticeable religious movement of the times?"

A little hand went up.

"Gracie Talkington will answer."

"Going to church," said Gracie.—Chicago Tribune.

Striking It Rich.

The days of "striking it rich" in the mines of the west are by no means over, though with the big prospecting and developing companies in every promising field the chances are perhaps slimmer than in the old days. Four men in the Slocan district, Washington, who have been working on a tunnel for over a year, following a streak of ore, and not making enough to pay their meager board, last week struck a four foot body of solid silver ore that runs 375 ounces to the ton, which has made their prospect hole worth at least $100,000.—New York Sun.

Mr. Miller, it seems, wants to move the street a little further west. It will not look as well nor be as convenient for the traveling public, but Mr. Miller's land will cut up into building lots to better advantage, and since appearances and public convenience count for nothing as against Mr. Miller's real estate speculations, the city fathers have agreed to let Mr. Miller move the street, "after haying."

In the meantime those coming into town from the north or going out in that direction, who shun North street because of the trolley cars, as they ride over the rutted, stony and unsafe road, anathematize a city government that allows such a street to wait on one man's pleasure, and eagerly watch the slow progress of work in Mr. Miller's hay fields and offer up earnest prayers that accidents may not retard and favorable weather speed the gathering of Mr. Miller's hay crop.

VIOLENT SUMMER STORMS-

Much Damage Done by Hail and Wind in Sullivan County, Saturday Afternoon—The Storm Along the Erie.

A dispatch from Liberty says that a terrific hail storm, accompanied by a very high wind, swept over that part of Sullivan county, Saturday afternoon, leaving a track of devastation in its trail. Hailstones the size of large marbles fell, smashing windows and doing other damage. Trees were uprooted and several cattle killed. While the storm lasted the earth was almost in darkness. In ten minutes the thermometer fell thirty degrees. This is the first time in the memory of the oldest residents of Sullivan county that there has ever been such a storm in July.

On the line of the Erie from Paterson to Suffern hail fell in enormous quantities. Three hours after the storm hail stones six inches deep covered the ground from Suffern to Ridgewood. Erie train 55 ran into Jersey City with all the car windows smashed and holes in the roof of one of the cars. It had to stop near Allendale till the storm passed. In all the section traversed by the storm trees were uprooted, small buildings overturned and much damage done to crops.

A SODA WATER EXPLOSION.

The Exciting Experience of Two Women Who Boiled Bottled Soda.

George Gager, a soda water manufacturer, at Jeffersonville, Sullivan county, gets hot water with which to melt syrups at the house of W. F. Grishaber, across the way from his factory. Saturday, when he returned the kettle he filled it with bottles of soda water and, putting the lid on, placed it on the table in Grishaber's kitchen. Miss Ellen Grishaber, thinking the kettle full of water, placed it on the stove to boil, and soon there was an explosion as loud as a quarry blast that blew the cover from the kettle and sent pieces of glass flying in all directions. Miss Grishaber took hold of the kettle to lift it from the stove, when another bottle exploded. The pieces of glass lacerated her hand, and one large piece striking her in the stomach knocked her down. She was picked up by her mother, who bandaged her wounds. After that Miss Ellen removed a hot bottle full of soda from the stove to the kitchen table, when her mother told her to throw it out doors, as it might explode, too. Mrs. Grishaber had no more than given the warning, with her hand outstretched in a shielding manner toward the bottle, when "bang" it went, and this time the mother received a badly lacerated hand.

"TROLLEY GYP"

A High Bred Newburgh Dog that Has Turned Tramp.

The Newburgh Journal gives the following pedigree of "Trolley Gyp," the fox terrier that has identified himself with the electric road in that city:

"Gyp," which name, by the way, is merely an alias, has quite an interesting history. Its wandering proclivities are certainly not inherited from its parents, for the father and mother of this Bohemian canine are staid and highly respected fox terriers of this city. Gyp's mother belongs to Mr. J. Moffatt Carpenter, the popular salesman at the Ramsdell storehouse. The pup early in its career displayed much precocity. It was the leader in the gambols of its brothers and sisters; and, being the largest pup of the family circle, was named "Jumbo." In due season he was presented to a relative of Mr. Carpenter at Chester, and was re-named "Ned." But the surroundings were not congenial for the lively dog, which was kept in too close confinement; so, at the first opportunity, he ran away. Being recaptured and returned to Newburgh, Mr. Carpenter gave him to an uncle in Middletown. There the little rascal was given every luxury even to an upholstered chair in a favorite corner of the house. But Jumbo-Ned-Gyp possessed a restless spirit and gradually degenerated into a trolley tramp The respectability of the purp's family caused general regret at his downward career; but at this information of his return to prosperity hope is entertained of his ultimate reformation.

The Warwick Bicycle Races.

Many wheelmen and others from this city will visit Warwick, Wednesday, to witness the bicycle races at that place. Brown, of Port Jervis, Hulse, Weeks and Johnson, of this city, are expected to capture some of the prizes. Trains leave by the Erie at 7:10 and 10:18 a. m.

"WHERE IGNORANCE IS BLISS."

Kept a Car Waiting and Wonders Why the Passengers "Acted Mad."

A lady signalled a car on North street, a day or two ago, and just as she was boarding it happened to remember that she had left her umbrella up stairs in an insurance office in which she had been transacting some business. In the most matter-of-course way she said to the conductor: "Wait a minute till I go back and get my umbrella." The conductor, a very accommodating fellow, held the car, although the minute was a very long one and the passengers on the waiting car grew very impatient of the delay.

When the lady returned with her umbrella and got on board the car she nodded to several acquaintances but there was a noticeable frigidity in the atmosphere and, speaking of the incident afterwards, the lady said: "There were several ladies on the car that I knew and when I bowed and smiled not one of them smiled back but all acted as if they were mad about something. I can't imagine what the trouble was but I know they were all too mean for anything.

TROLLEY WIRE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

A Motorman Gets a Shock and His Car Is Disabled.

During the thunder storm, Saturday afternoon, car 22, Jones conductor and Hart motorman, was lying in Ryerson's switch. There was a sharp report as if lightning had struck near by, and at the same time Motorman Hart sustained a shock so severe as to paralyze him for a few minutes. It was discovered soon afterwards that one of the armatures in the motor was burned out, and it is supposed the lightning struck the trolley wire and found its way to the ground through this car.

The car was able to reach the power house, but was taken off the line and car 18 put in its place.

Fine Bass Fishing in Loch Sheldrake.

A very remarkable catch of black bass was made, Friday, in Loch Sheldrake, Sullivan County, by Peter T. Clark, Charles M. Lynch and Alderman Charles M. Smith, of New York. Mr. Lynch caught nine bass that weighed twenty-seven pounds, his largest fish tipping the scales at six and a half pounds. Mr. Clark had ten bass that weighed thirty-two and a-half pounds, two of them seven pounders. Alderman Smith's catch was four, two of them four pounders.

A Short Cut to Health.

To try to cure constipation by taking pills is like going round in a circle. You will never reach the point sought, but only get back to the starting point. A perfect natural laxative is Bacon's Celery King, the celebrated remedy for all nerve, blood, stomach, liver and kidney diseases. It regulates the bowels. John J. Chambers will give you a sample package free. 6

To make your business pay, good health is a prime factor. To secure good health, the blood should be kept pure and vigorous by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When the vital fluid is impure and sluggish, there can be neither health, strength nor ambition.

AMBITIOUS WOMEN

MAKE HEROES OF MEN.

She Will Brave Anything for the Man She Loves.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

When an ambitious woman loves a man she will spur him to heroic efforts. She will dare with him the rigors of the frozen North, and encourage him in daring dangers almost unsurmountable.

Women are by nature ambitious according to their physical and mental strength. Hope and ambition come with perfect health, but vanish before sickness and despair.

American women are, unfortunately, particularly subject to those painful female diseases that are the cause of so much hopelessness and misery.

Could all women realize the undeniable fact that they suffer unnecessarily, how much brighter life would be!

Lydia E. Pinkham devoted her life to the study of female diseases and their cause; and she discovered in the Vegetable Compound an absolute remedy. It succeeds in removing the cause of the trouble.

Women who rely more upon their own natural common-sense, rather than on the theories of their physicians, write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., and are soon restored to health.

Here is a living example: "Four months ago I was unable to stand on my feet. I had falling of the womb, kidney trouble, and inflammation of the bladder; the backache and bearing-down pains were dreadful. My physician could give me no relief. A friend said, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Well, I did. Oh, if every suffering woman would do the same, they would be cured, cured absolutely and entirely, as I am!" MRS. WM. M. MOREY, 20 Seymour St., Pittsfield, Mass.
